

WANTED

Deacons to serve in the Episcopal Diocese of Montana

Must have a strong desire to:

- Serve as models of how to live out our baptismal promises in the world – to exemplify the servant ministry of Jesus and to serve him in the world.
- Have a strong Christian faith, an active pattern of prayer and reflection and an orientation toward ministry in the world.
- Have a strong commitment to social justice and can animate people's awareness of community and global needs.
- Relate to people of various ethnic and socio-economic backgrounds.

Deacons are expected to:

- Serve under the authority and direction of the Bishop.
- Empathize with people in challenging circumstances and provide effective, compassionate responses.
- Be prophetic voices in faith communities, calling them to respond to issues and needs of the world outside the walls of their churches, especially the needs of the marginalized.
- Help people identify new ministries, encourage and support them in carrying out those ministries.

Deacons exemplify the servant ministry of Jesus and serve him in the world.
