When Compassion Overcomes Fear is a multi-media presentation detailing one man's journey in addressing the AIDS crisis when the epidemic began in his hometown in rural Texas. Jerry Permenter, founder of the East Texas AIDS Project, will read excerpts from his forthcoming AIDS memoir about those years, including his personal struggles, to demonstrate the fear, compassion and aftermath of his years establishing a system of care for those living with HIV. This is his first public presentation of work from his AIDS memoir, "Red Dirt Boy."
