

Flat Jesus

Have you ever heard of flat Jesus? Flat Jesus started a number of years ago based off the Flat Stanley books by Jeff Brown. Children make a flat Jesus and take him with them when they travel over the summer and on vacations, recording his adventures through pictures. I've had my flat Jesus for two years now, bringing him home from General Convention in 2018 where he stood on the platform in the House of Bishops! And now he is next to my computer as I type this.

Since Jesus is always with us, your child might want to make a flat Jesus to be at home with you at this time. Attached is a flat Jesus for you to use. Notice that he has donned a St. John's tunic! Print out flat Jesus on heavier paper (trim and print on a manila folder if you need something sturdy), cut him out and color in as you wish. Include him in your activities at home this week and perhaps take a photo to share with the parish online.

Enjoy!
